

Colorado Mountain College

The new CMC Edwards building is a 30,000SF campus built on approximately 6 acres. This public education facility is a bold addition to Eagle County. ARC played an important role in coordinating pre-construction and construction to reach final completion on this project.

Unique Challenges

- Coordinated efforts between CMC and the Design Review Board during pre-construction.
- Administration of the Contractor and Architect, in conjunction with the Owner's self-performed Work including, painting, door hardware, cabinets and floor coverings.
- Coordination of the landscaping and data cabling installation during major construction activities.
